Preface

Culture is the expression of the external and internal behavior of the constituent elements in this society, and the fixed of a nation or group of people in order to adapt to the environment, which is the sum of the human way of life. Culture is a historical side that shows the value of man, and Civilization is a kind of culture that exists at a particular time.

The earliest civilization of mankind, believed by archaeologists, was "Sumer Culture" that is in the Mesopotamia, between the Tigris and Euphrates two rivers basins in the Middle East, where a group of indigenous mixed peoples lived about 11,000 years ago. Prior to this, human civilization, there are two records of different sources, all of which suddenly disappeared at 12,000 years ago. The first, the Greek philosopher Platos book "The Dialogue" in 360 B.C., revealed the Atlantis Imperial civilization in the Atlantic Ocean. The second, in 1926, the book "The Lost Continent of Mu" by Churchward, a British officer, depicted the civilized Empire of the Sun of "Mu-Land" in the Pacific Ocean. Although Atlantis was in the vast Atlantic Ocean, but still did not know the existence of American Continent and Pacific Ocean at the age of Plato. Then The American Continent and the Pacific Ocean should be considered as a part of the Atlantic Ocean at that time, so that Atlantis is also likely to be in the Pacific Ocean.

To study the earliest civilizations of humankind, this book cites data based on the English Churchwards "The Lost continent of Mu" (English version) and the Greek philosopher Platos "Dialogue" (English version), to explore the content of both. After a detailed study, it is found that although Mu-Land and Atlantis had different sources, there are as many as fifteen commonalities in their narratives. These 15 items are necessary conditions for historical conformity, including time, place, person, culture, events, etc., the two ancient disappeared continents that can be considered just a single continent, whose names are vary from different sources. Schliemann, a famous German archaeologist in the nineteenth century, speculated that Mu-Land and Atlantis were the same one continent. Since Atlantis Empire worships the Sun and the people of its colonies worship the Sun, The Atlantis Empire can also be called "The Empire of the Sun". The two disappeared Empires of Mu-Land and Atlantis may be commonly known as "The Empire of the Sun".

Mu-Land and Atlantis have five things in common, including earthquake destruction, major flooding, sinking between one days and nights, sinking in the great ocean, disappearing 12,000 years ago. It is a fact recognized by geologists that the events of 12,000 years ago coincided with the end of the Fourth Ice Age on Earth, when the earths crust was unbalanced and cracked, causing volcanic eruptions. Volcanic eruptions can accompany with a strong earthquake, followed by a tsunami that destroys the civilization of the time, so the search for the vanishing site of Empire of the Sun must search from the volcanic eruption that caused the tsunami.

In April 2001, the international ocean drilling ship "JOIDES Resolution" at the Ocean Drilling Program (ODP) Site 1202 operated geological drilling on the south slope of southern Okinawa Trough, took out 410 meters of core from the sea floor and did three different methods of age dating. It turns out that there was a large amount of sediment sank to the sea floor about 12,000 years ago. However, the experts do not know the source, but sediment is composed of components similar to those of Taiwans mountaintops, and it contains volcanic ash particles, indicating that there has been a volcanic eruption nearby.

In 2004, when the National Expressway Engineering Bureau excavated at Snow Mountain Tunnel of Freeway No. 5, the sampling test of artesian water was detected and was found in the northern section of Snow Mountain hiding “the more than 8000 years ancient water”, which indicated the sign of “natural underground reservoirs”. Then many volcanoes in the northeast corner of Taiwan and the nearby waters had the records of volcano eruption from the past three million years to six thousand years ago. Based on this information, that the northern section of the Snow Mountains has “Stratovolcano Island”, which is inclined to trigger a “mega-tsunami” in the event of a volcanic eruption.

Based on both of these information, the author wrote an academic paper on the coastal engineering in the civil engineering field: “Mega-tsunami in Northeastern Taiwan at Least 12,000 Years Ago”; appendix 2), and published at the Third International Conference on Asia and Pacific Coast 2005 in Jeju of South Korea, in early September 2005. Experts and scholars from all over the world affirmed it. Because this article reveals the dawn of the ancient history of Taiwan, which can be linked to the time and space of the ancient civilization sites of Taiwan and also can connect to the earliest time and space of the history of world civilization, so this article should become the stepping-stone to the ancient history of Taiwan and the world.

According to this paper, a volcanic eruption occurred in the northern section of the Snow Mountains about 12,000 years ago, and accompanied a landslide. It is a huge volume of earth and gravel rolling down the Pacific Ocean, and drifting to ODP 1202 Site, and caused a mega-tsunami that destroyed Taiwan and the islands of the Pacific Ocean and the surrounding coastal civilization. This event in condition and time coincides perfectly with the destruction of the Empire of the Sun.

The "mega-tsunami event" in the northeast corner of Taiwan was almost consistent with the plot of Churchwards' The Lost Continent of Mu, including volcanic eruptions, major earthquakes and land that sank in the Pacific Ocean 12,000 years ago. In this book, "the leaping deer" stands for "the first human" on earth, which is more similar to the Formosan sika deer, and many fossils of ancient elephants in Taiwan proved that Mu-Land should be Taiwan. Taiwan's main indigenous people s, all nine ethnic groups of Plain Peoples and some Gaoshan Peoples, still retain the Matriarchal society of Mu-Land, so that Taiwan Island should be the Mu-Land.

Learning from Solon, a Greek wise man, Platos description of Atlantis have given sixteen clues in the search for the Atlantis Site. Although more than 1,700 reports of the Atlantis Site have found around the world, but there was never a place to conform to Platos description and Solons sixteen clues, except that Taiwan's environment could do. In addition to Taiwan, Suao Bay nearby were also consistent with the conditions of the Capital of Atlantis, so that Atlantis is considered also the Taiwan Island.

The lost first civilized continent of Empire of the Sun did not all sink into the sea, but only partially disappeared. A volcanic eruption occurred in the northern section of the Snow Mountains in the northeastern corner of Taiwan, causing a collapse of the huge volume of earth and gravel, and rolling down the Pacific Ocean and spreading into Lanyang Plain. The east of Taiwan was supposed to be a straight coastline, with the collapse falling into the sea, shrinking into a beautiful inner concave arc of Ilan coastline. The capital was in the area and sank to the bottom of the sea, which was later mistaken for the legend that Mu-Land or Atlantis had all sunk into the sea and disappeared.

Before Columbus discovered the New World of America, there were still two remaining islands, Antilia and Satanazee, on many nautical charts, that believed to be Taiwan and Japan. The characteristics of Antilia's size, shape, major estuaries, five rivers and coastlines are measured in particular on the nautical chart all are similar to Taiwan Island. In 1995, South University of Florida Professor Robert Fuson's "Legendary Islands of the Ocean Sea" explained that Antilia was the first Pacific island on a map of the West, in fact was Taiwan.

There are many traces of Empire of the Sun in Taiwan, including: many submarine remains of ancient civilization around Taiwan, more than a hundred ancient artificial caves, many remains of megalithic civilization, and many ancient achievements. These traces can take as the substantial evidences of "The Empire of the Sun" in Taiwan, which means, "The Civilized Motherland of the Human is Taiwan".

After the big flood "mega-tsunami", None of Taiwan's personage ancestors living in the flat plain escaped, but the residents living in the mountains were lucky to escape from the disaster. Unfortunately, they were working class, limited knowledge, the inability to continue the civilization of Empire of the Sun, so the human civilization interrupted and shrank. These ancestors retained some of the memories of the Empire of the Sun civilization, and when they passed on those few memories, and after five or six thousand years of diving, they bred "Tapenkeng Culture" as the ancestral culture of Austronesian.

For nearly 50 years, Austronesian, which covers one-third of the Earth's surface, has attracted the attention of scholars, and this larger Language family now uses 1,262 kinds of Austronesian Languages, and is the world's largest variety of languages and the most geographically distributed languages. According to statistics, before the Columbus era, the most commonly spoken language in the world was not Indo-European Language, but Austronesian Language.

Over the years, scholars have explored linguistics, archaeology, genetics and culture, and the results of the study show that most people believe that the Austronesian is in line with the "Out of Taiwan hypothesis", that is, Austronesians' home land is Taiwan's claim, but the biggest question for scholars is where the ancestors and cultures of Taiwan's earliest indigenous people came from.

Although some scholars put forward different views, there are many different opinions, but it is unable to agree or decide which is right. It took 6,000 years to breed Tapenkeng Culture as the ancestral culture of the Austronesian, as the civilization of the Empire of the Sun destroyed by the mega-tsunami in Taiwan 12,000 years ago.

It can be aware from the book that the civilization of the Empire of the Sun has made Taiwan the origin of the Austronesian. It can be aware that Taiwan's ancestors are the direct line of descendants of the Empire of the Sun, not from the foreign countries, so that we can suddenly understand thoroughly all the doubtful opinions.

There are thirteen sites of Paleolithic Era in Taiwan, including cultural relics such as Changbin Culture, Mesh Culture, and remains of Dagangshan Man, Tsochen Man and Taiwan Bridge Man, which are between 30,000 and 50,000 years old. This is a rare record in the ancient civilization of the world.

As Austronesian language of Taiwan does not preserve the cognate of boat or vessel and navigational technology altogether in proto-Austronesian language, but there is no lack of Austronesian language in other regions.

Since the Austronesian language of Taiwan did not preserve the cognate of ships and navigational technology of Proto-Austronesian language, but there was not lack of Austronesian language in other regions. Kwang-Chih Chang, an internationally renowned great master of archaeology and former vice president of Academia Sinica, and a number of international scholars believed that the Ancestors has migrated to Taiwan by land in the Glacier Age, and there was no need for a ship to come to Taiwan at all. Therefore, it was possible to determine that the Taiwanese ancestors had reached Taiwan to settle in the Paleolithic period before the sea level had risen. In November 2016, the National Geographic Society's Genetics Research Program published, its findings that human being were on migration routes and age in East Asia confirmed that they had arrived in Taiwan by 50,000 years ago.

Taiwan's earliest ancestors, who lived in the southern "Archicontinent of Sunda", moved north along the Asian mainland Shelf 50,000 years ago, and passing through Penghu Shelf and settling in Taiwan on foot. The earliest civilized Empire of the Sun then established in Taiwan, so that the ancestors of Taiwan's earliest indigenous people were the People of Empire of the Sun in the Mu-Land. When the Empire of the Sun flourished, it ruled Europe, Asia, Africa, America and other continents, and its language was of course the most spoken by the world. The Mega-tsunami happened in Taiwan 12,000 years ago, after making the Empire of the Sun broke up, the colony was able to restore its original language, but in Taiwan, where the Empire of the Sun was located, the original language — "Austronesian language", would of course continue to speak. The language of Empire of the Sun has passed down to the present, so that it should be the language of Austronesian. The civilization of Empire of the Sun accomplished Taiwan the origin of Austronesian, not from the foreign countries spread culture to Taiwan. Six thousand years ago, the Taipei Qixing Mountain volcano erupted, connecting with major earthquakes, and triggered a tsunami. The part of Taiwan's ancestors evacuated from Taiwan to islands in the Pacific and Indian Oceans in search of a safe place to live, then forming the domain of Austronesian. Therefore, Austronesian is also the descendants of the Empire of the Sun, whose homeland is, of course, Taiwan.

There are many traces of ancient civilization in Taiwan, such as: the ancient relics of Empire of the Sun, shell currency of China from Taiwan, some sites of ancient industrial district in Taiwan, Peng-Lai Fairyland of Taiwan, ancient gold country of Taiwan, homeland of Pacific Paper Mulberry and Bark-Cloth Culture, Operation Center among federal states in the world, etc.. Taiwan's civilization extended far beyond other countries in the region of Pacific Rim. In particular, the study of the spread of Taiwan's Paper Mulberry and Bark-Cloth Culture as well as the spread of Taiwan Jade in recent years has actually proved that the homeland of Austronesian is Taiwan.

According to the description of the various sections in this book, it can be aware of the lost ancient civilized continent is in fact the Taiwan Island. Taiwan's experts and scholars' views on the ancient civilization of the lost continent regard only as legends or myths, and have never discussed academically. Although the author has held three times of press conferences since 1998, appealing to the Government and the academic community to study Taiwan's ancient civilization, in order to make the ancient prehistory of Taiwan, but the general scholars have no interest, even the Government has not paid attention to it, so far is no progress, it is a pity!

Yung-ho Ts'ao, an academician of Academia Sinica, has put forward the concept of "The History of Taiwan Island", so far the history of Taiwan still remains in the modern history of only about 400 years, after the Spanish came to Taiwan. But the information unearthed the remains and cultural relics of the ancestor of the people by the archaeologists can see that Taiwan has culture about forty or fifty thousand years old, the gap between the two is so large that it is incomparable. It is just that no one has ever talked about Taiwan's ancient prehistory.

The history of Taiwan has only recorded since the Spanish came to Taiwan, before this rare research works for reference, so we collect many precious historical materials and cultural relics, and spend a huge amount of money, time, physical strength and spirit, up the mountain and down the sea, do field survey work. This book bases on these limited historical materials, the works of experts and scholars, oral history, together with the results of field investigations and scientific identification, on the current data compiled.

The author makes a collection of pictures and literary descriptions about the ancient history of Taiwan, introducing it to the public with simple words and photographs.

Because ancient civilization is far from modern, it is difficult to use scientific evidence to obtain a complete human prehistoric history, can only quote oral history, legends, or ancient works and other materials, to obtain fragments of information, against the current reality, and then use modern science and technology to verify a subject. So the book's original source of information in the ancient civilization section, referring to many books and reports, with the quotation mark [ ] attached after the sentence. However, the results can be detected in technology, and the book directly cites its academic papers, attached to sentences in parentheses ( ). The source of the two references information list after the main article of the book as "Bibliography" and "Reference" respectively.

Although The evidences mentioned by the author are true, but it is only the "tip of the iceberg", hoping to use this to "throw bricks and lead jade", to arouse the resonance of experts and scholars, and to explore this "iceberg entity", affecting the history of civilization around the world. Hoping the historians do a series of more research and reporting, and complete an entire "Taiwan Island History" at an early date. They can understand Taiwan's contribution of civilization to the world's, solve the mystery of the world's prehistoric unknown high civilization, and push Taiwan on the historical stage of the world to the most important first action.

People from all occupations are welcome to participate in the joint efforts to promote the study of Taiwan's ancient civilization, and the author will exert all can do everything to help promote the study of "the history of Taiwan Island".
